Local Blood Bank Draws 103 Pints

Hancock county's Blood Bank drew 103 pints of blood Wednesday at the Bay St. Louis Youth Center in their semi-annual drawing. George Heitzmann, chairman, said.

Heitzmann said 115 persons answered the call to donate blood to the bank, and said twelve had a rare blood type and have been registered in the county's "walking bank," which is always on call.

Over six-hundred telephone calls were made Wednesday by the bank's staff. Heitzmann said in expressing thanks to the Bay St. Louis operators for excellent service.

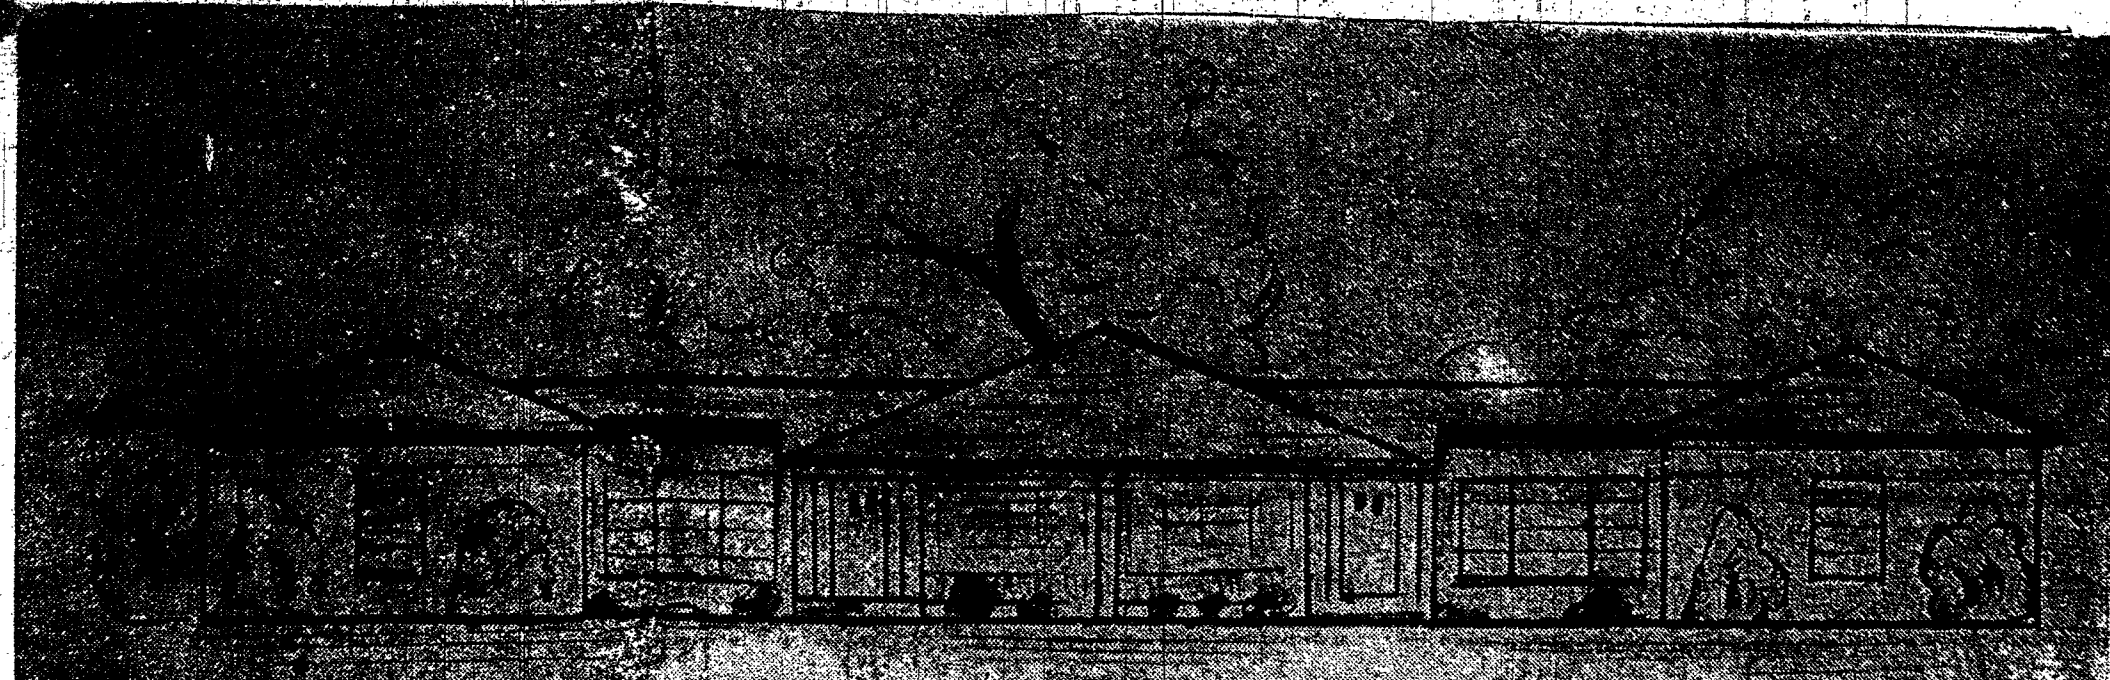

A staff from Foundation Hospital of New Orleans worked with local nurses from King's Daughters Hospital in Bay St. Louis in handling the operation.

Heitzmann also expressed gratitude to the Merchants Coffee Co. who donated a pound of Union coffee to every donor, the Star Theatre, who gave a week's pass to each donor, and merchants in Hancock county who also contributed merchandise for a door prize, which was won by Stanley Yarbrough, Pearlboro.

HUGHES WELL AT 8 IN BAY OF ST. LOUIS

Mississippi's only offshore operation, J. Willis Hughes, was drilling at 8 p.m. Thursday afternoon at the No. 1 Azolite F. Thian, sec. 24-9s-16w, which is slated for 13,500 feet.

Ready Plans For Old Folks' Home

HANCOCK COUNTY'S OLD PEOPLES HOME TO BE CONSTRUCTED AT A COST OF $40,000 ON DUNBAR AVE.

A $40,000 Old Peoples Home will be constructed on Dunbar Ave., between Hwy. 90 and Felicity St., with bids for the project to be opened Nov. 5 by the Hancock county board of supervisors, A. C. Mitchell, clerk of courts, said Thursday.

The concrete, fire-proof one-story building will house twenty-four residents with separate facilities for Negroes and whites.

The 109-by-95 foot building will be divided into two sections for the two races, with each division having two dormitories, two bed rooms, a living room, dining room, baths, porches, closets and a kitchen, which are also divided for men and women.

A caretaker will be in charge and will live on the premises. The dwelling will be situated on an 11-acre county plot on Dunbar Ave. and is expected to be completed by March.

At present, the county's home is on Bayou LaCrosse and has nine residents.

However, Mitchell said, the new home will be more convenient for medical service to the people, and assures safety from hazards such as storms, as the site is one of the highest points in Hancock county.

Dalton B. Shouds of Gulfport-New Orleans as the consulting engineer.

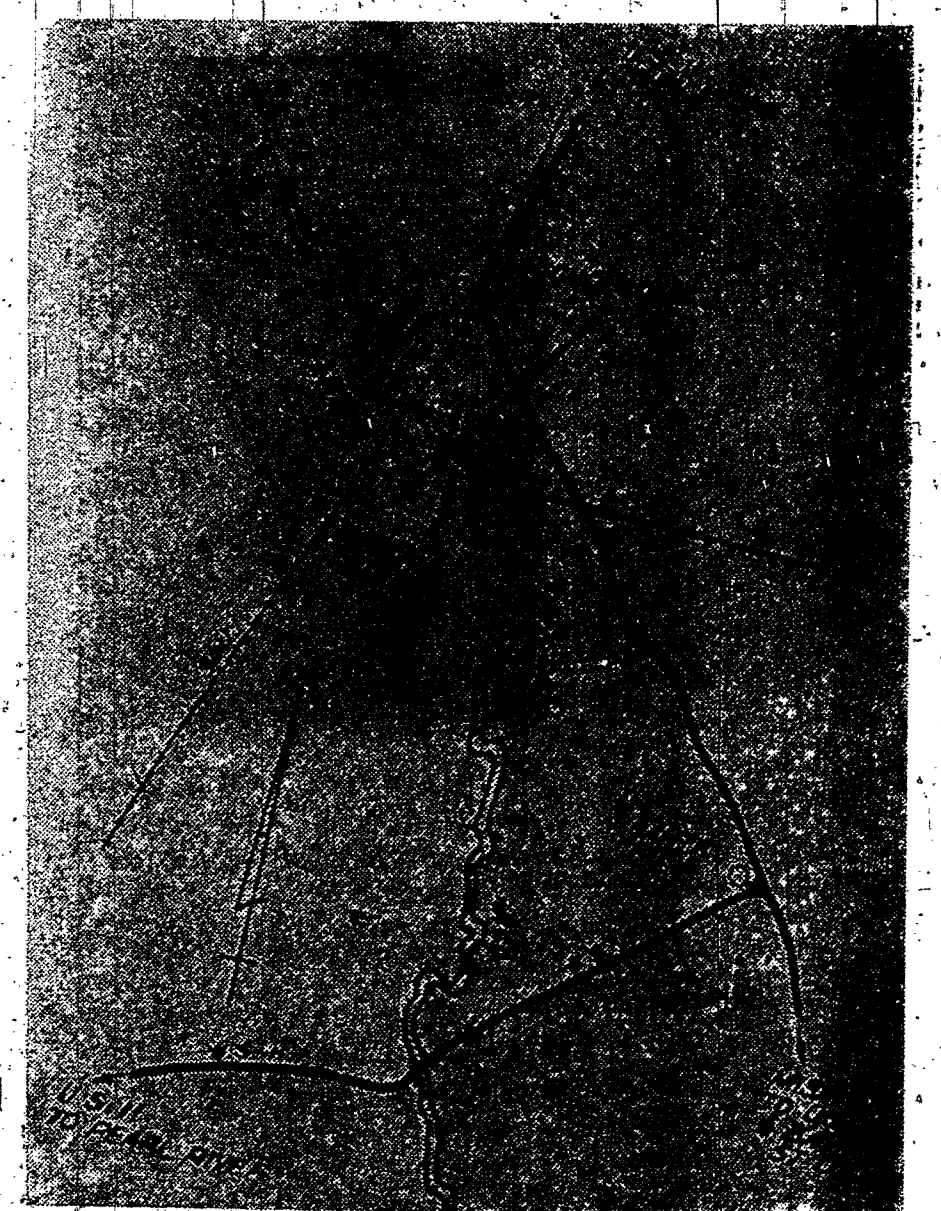

A modern heating and ventilating system will be installed, Mitchell said, as the primary purpose is for the care of the aged citizens.

World Community Day Scheduled Friday, Nov. 2

"Be a friendly neighbor on World Community Day," Nov. 2, the United Council of Church Women remind the residents of Hancock county.

Men's used clothing and blankets are needed in a U.C.W.'s operation in helping the needed world and will be accepted at the Christ Episcopal Church, from 10 o'clock to 11 o'clock Friday morning.

TO RELOCATE HIGHWAY 11

RELOCATING HWY. 11—Bridge part of interstate highway plan to relocate U. S. highway 11 section of Hancock and Pearl River counties, and St. Tammany parish, La. A new bridge site is shown over Pearl River, just below Nicholson.

A $353,553 contract to launch construction of an interstate bridge over Pearl River, half a mile above Hancock county near Nicholson, as a joint project between Louisiana and Mississippi to relocate Hwy. 11 was awarded in Jackson Tuesday by the state highway commission.

U. S. Hwy. 11 enters north Hancock County from Louisiana and runs about three miles to Santa Rosa before curving northwestward to Nicholson, below Picayune in Pearl River County.

In the project, Mississippi will relocate the highway to the Mississippi-Louisiana state line, which is formed by Pearl River, and will also supervise construction of the new bridge across the river.

The bridge project, calling for twin bridges on East Pearl River between Nicholson and Pearl River, La., went to T. F. Groome Const. Co., Port Gibson.

Re-location and construction of the new highway 11 segment through "Honey Island" swamp below Picayune has been under consideration by Louisiana and Mississippi for several years.

Youth Center Fund Drive 82% Short

Bay St. Louis' annual Youth Center fund drive enters its third week with only 18 percent of the needed goal of $15,000 received.

Last week a $200 check boosted the drive into full swing, however only $67 were donated the second week.

Donations may be mailed to Mr. George Seuzeney Jr., 200 Kellar Ave., with checks made out to the Bay St. Louis Youth Center.

To date, donations have been received from:

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McDonald, $15.00; Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Henderson, $25.00; Miss Ruth Cazensar, $10.00; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller, $2.00; Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Samuels, $10.00; Anonymous $205.00.

Sheriff Warns of Crackdown on Illegal Tags

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner today adopted a get-tough attitude towards Mississippi residents carrying out-of-state tags on their motor vehicles.

Sheriff Ladner told the ECHO a check will begin immediately on residents vehicles displaying out-of-state tags. He pointed out fines ranging from $10 to $100 could be levied against motorists guilty of carrying improper license tags.

The sheriff pointed out any person residing in the state must carry a Mississippi tag on his vehicle. Individuals who have just moved to Mississippi have 30 days in which to purchase a new tag if the automobile is registered in their name, he said. Persons driving an automobile not registered in their name must purchase a state tag immediately.

Vehicles of any owner refusing to purchase a state tag may be impounded under provision of state law, Sheriff Ladner said.

He pointed out that sale of 1957 state tags continues to lag at the Bay St. Louis courthouse. The sheriff warned that following the deadline October 31, a penalty of 25 per cent goes into effect.

Following the deadline date, motorists charged with carrying improper tags must also pay the penalty costs in addition to the improper tag fine.

HARVEST BALL ROYALTY

Mrs. William Floyd, Harahan, La., reigned as queen of the Annual American Legion Auxiliary Harvest Ball Saturday night at the Top Hat in Waveland. Mrs. Floyd, a sister of Mrs. John Rutherford, has been a member of the local unit for the past three years. The queen was crowned by last year's queen, Mrs. Lucien Kidd.

Reigning with Mrs. Floyd was Robert Fayard who was crowned by Mr. Curtis Ladner, the first King of the annual Harvest Ball.

Selected as maids and dukes of the royal court were Mrs. Russell Elliott and Guy Bufkin. Mrs. Robert Fayard and Emmett Brown, Mrs. Emmett Brown and Gilbert Gayaut, Mrs. Guy Bufkin and Lucien Kidd, Mrs. Curtis Ladner and John Rutherford, Mrs. Eugene Schuengel and John Hendricks.

Gifts were presented to the King and Queen and Court by Mrs. Esther Oschmann, chairman of the court committee.

Proceeds of the ball go to Gift Shops in Jackson, Biloxi, and Gulfport Veterans Hospitals.

OFFICIAL PROCLAMATION

Proclaiming All Saints' Day As Holiday

SINCE November 1st of each year is known as ALL SAINTS' DAY and a time set aside when special tribute is paid to the memory of the dead, when the public visits the cemeteries and decorates the graves with flowers, and religious ceremonies are the order of the afternoon and it is fitting that one and all visit the "cities of the dead" and pay respect by their visit and prayerful solicitation.

AND since ALL SAINTS' DAY is recognized over this entire section of our Southland, and in some places as a legal holiday, and in Bay St. Louis always as a day of thought and consideration as befitting such occasion;

THEREFORE, I, John A. Scaife, Mayor of the City of Bay St. Louis, do issue this as the City's official proclamation declaring THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1956, a holiday; and further, officially requesting that all places of business be closed on that day, in order that the public engaged in business and others employed may visit the cemeteries and pay respect to the memory of the departed.

Done at the City Hall, this 24th day of October, A. D. 1956, and witnessed by the City's official seal.

AVERAGE DRILLING DEPTH IN 1955

As a comparison of the figures in the above graph shows, footage drilled for the average well in Mississippi last year was almost double that of the national average drilling depth of 3,992 feet, thus setting the average cost per well at approximately $80,000. The number of deeper wells drilled in the state has steadily increased in the past several years as significant finds have been discovered in deeper sands.

DEVELOPING NEW OIL FIELDS IN THE STATE REQUIRES DEEPER DRILLING THAN EVER BEFORE

Oil, like gold, is where you find it, and in Mississippi the job of drilling and developing new oil fields is becoming increasingly more difficult. Expert oil men are pushing their search to lower levels than ever before in their exploration of deeper sands. Last year the average well drilled in the state almost doubled the national average drilling depth of 3,992 feet.

Deeper drilling means higher operational costs. The significance of this was pointed out by E. D. (Doug) Kenna, executive vice president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association in a recent interview.

"Exploratory wells," said Kenna, "each year must go deeper and deeper in the search to locate oil fields in Mississippi which will develop into reservoirs of major production potential. Last year the average well drilled was 7,453 at a cost of some $80,000 and, in the final analysis more than $35,000,000 was spent in 1955 throughout Mississippi in drilling for oil and gas."

During the first six months of this year, only one new production well was located in Mississippi.

Oil or gas well was located in every ten wildcat wells drilled in the state. This means the producer must pay at least $720,000 for the nine dry holes drilled to find it.

The willingness of oil companies and independent oil men to invest larger sums of money and assume risks brought on by the necessity for deeper drilling required in Mississippi has resulted in recent important discoveries. These new finds include the Soso Field in Jones and Smith Counties, the Bolton Field in Hinds County, and six miles from the Mississippi state line in Alabama, the Gironette Field. The Soso and Bolton Fields discoveries took place in the 1953-54 period when drilling was extended to deep formations of lower cretaceous age.

Probably the most significant development of 1955 was the Ansley Field discovery in Hancock County, which is also a lower cretaceous producer. This is one of the eleven new oil fields officially designated as discoveries last year. The others are South Kinston, Moss Grove, Cooper Hill and Homewood Fields (Adams County); Kelly Hill, Mud Creek and Soapstone Fields (Wilkinson County); North Church Hill and North Sunnyside Fields (Jefferson County); and Sandersville Field (Jones County). An additional 1955 gain was reflected in the discovery of a new oil reservoir in the existing Pistol Ridge Field.

Contrasted with that in its neighboring states, the oil industry in Mississippi operates under more adverse conditions due to strata formations, which in turn requires the deeper drilling activities. Last year in Texas the average drilling depth was 4,303 feet; in Louisiana, 6,490; in Arkansas, 3,270; in Alabama, 4,878; in Oklahoma, 3,273, while in Mississippi the drilling depth averaged at 7,453 feet.

However, the industry continues 'on the job,' attested by the 28 geophysical crews operating in the state at the end of June, and the more than 40 drilling rigs active during September in the costly exploration for oil and gas in Mississippi.

How to be a Better Cook... and save money too!

by Mary Baker

Halloween Nut Drops

(Makes 40-50 cookies)

1/2 cup butter or shortening

1 tablespoon grated orange rind

1/2 teaspoon vanilla

3/4 cup sifted (finely packed) brown sugar

1 egg

1 1/2 cups sifted all purpose flour

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder

1/2 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk

1/2 cup chopped nuts

Blend shortening, orange rind, vanilla, sugar and egg until light and fluffy. Add dry ingredients alternately with Carnation. Blend until smooth; then fold in nuts. Drop dough from teaspoon on buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) about 15 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet and cool on rack, if desired.

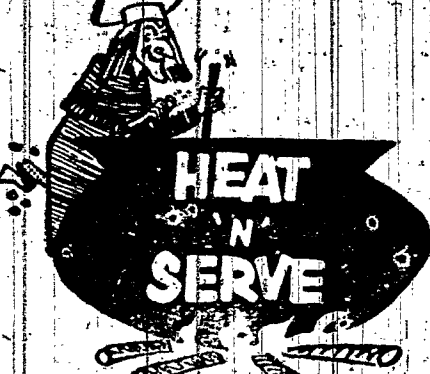

CHOCOLATE (icing): Melt 1 cup (6-ounce package) semi-sweet chocolate bits with 1/4 cup butter; allow to cool thoroughly. Alternately add 1/4 cups sifted confectioners, sugar and 1/2 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk to chocolate. Beat briskly until creamy. Spread on cooled cookies.

SIDELINES CLUB EXPRESS THANKS

A meeting was set for Thursday night by the St. Stanislaus Sidelines Club to express appreciation for the general participation in the two-day festival held last weekend.

Despite bad weather Saturday the fair proved quite successful and proceeds from it will enable the Sidelines club to defray costs of repairs and additions to the football stadium made over the past two years.

Special thanks were tendered to the good ladies who attended the booths, those who prepared candies and cakes, to all others who contributed their time and effort and to Mr. George Suezeneau, Jr., the general chairman.

Pressure-treated wood will last up to five times longer than untreated wood.

Of the making of books—yes, also of spoonerisms—there is no end. The Rev. William A. Spooner, for whom the practice is named, was a warden of New College, Oxford, who passed on in 1930.

During his career he acquired—shall we say by dint of depletion?—a certain kind of fame, so that his name now attaches to an "accidental transportation of sounds" (Webster), and if amusing so much the better.

Spoonerisms can be invented deliberately, but they rarely ring true unless unintended, as we have just shown.

One of the most famous is Dr. Spooner's own announcement in 1879 of a hymn, "The Kinkering Songs Their Titles Take." He spoke also of having a "half-warmed fish within us" when he meant a half-formed wish. "It is customary to cuss the bride," he told a wedding party. He even referred to a "shoving leopard."

We were reminded of Dr. Spooner when a voice at the other end of our phone wire this morning said that someone intended to accomplish a matter at "one swell foop." This was genuine spoonerism delivered in the proper state of superb unconsciousness, and we felt it should go into the record.

Perhaps what has made Dr. Spooner's talent of world-wide interest is that many of us are similarly gifted. It was not Dr. Spooner, but surely a worthy kinsman who responded to an honor with speech that began, I am flattered and gratified.

Typical Teenager

By MARTHA NELSON

Last spring Marilyn Graves, dressed with the American Ambassador at a glittering ball in the Paris Louvre. This autumn she's serving in the dining hall at Mississippi State College for Women.

Far from being a cotte-down typical of the democratic traits which helped the Laurel lass to win the title of "Typical Teenager of America."

And this down-to-earth sense of values, this modesty and humility are some of the qualities that make Marilyn loved not only by her classmates at MSCW, but by everyone she meets, wherever she goes.

She's traveled all over the United States and to France, winning one honor after the other. Every time she takes a step or opens her mouth, her stock seems to rise. The flash bulbs pop, civic and national leaders perk up and listen and Marilyn walks from a platform or stage with another prize or trophy to show her mother and dad.

A model for teenagers everywhere, Marilyn is level-headed about her ability to collect honors. She loves her 4-H Club work, and has done most of her traveling in connection with 4-H activities.

The trip to Paris, which represents only a dream to most teenagers, became an actuality when Marilyn was chosen by "Seventeen" magazine to represent American teenagers at an international conference of teenage girls in Paris.

Marilyn toured the City and attended a showing of Dior fashions. An evening dress was designed especially for her by Larvin. She now wears the yellow corded cotton creation to MSCW social functions.

At the Ambassador's Ball she met French president Rene Coty and the American

Ain't what they used to be down on the farm

Mississippi farmers, who have seen the cost of the things they buy go up without an offsetting increase in the price of their products, are in a position to understand the Telephone Company's situation.

Everything that goes into furnishing telephone service costs a lot more today—tools, wire, cable, buildings, labor and taxes. In spite of these higher costs, we have done a lot to improve and expand our service during recent years, and still there's a big job to do in meeting the demand for new service and further improving existing service.

Since 1949, six wage increases, an income tax increase and costs associated with increased investment, have upped our operating costs by $7½ million a year... while additional revenue from rate increases amounts to only $3½ million a year.

That's why we have asked the Public Service Commission to make a thorough study of our rates and earnings and to set new rates that will be fair to telephone users and to the Company.

...important factor in the fabrication of iron and steel products

Many high quality iron and steel products for home, industry and business are rolled, fabricated and heat-treated with natural gas. Natural gas is used because temperatures and furnace atmospheres can be controlled with exactness... and because gas does its job so economically.

United Gas offers iron and steel fabricators of the Gulf South, and many other plants locating along its pipe lines, adequate, uninterrupted supplies of dependable fuel the year around. This is an important factor in attracting industry to this area.

Loans Now Available For Hancock County Farmers

Alfred E. Smith, Chairman of the Farmers Home Administration County Committee, announces that the following loans are available for farmers in Hancock County:

1. Operating loans to full-time family-size farmers. Such loans are made to assist family size farmers to become established successfully in a sound, well-balanced system of farming.
2. Operating loans to part-time farmers. These loans are made to farmers who work off the farm part-time but need assistance to make needed improvements in their farm operations. Farmers who are fully employed off the farm are not eligible.
3. Farm Ownership loans. These loans are made to family size farmers to purchase land, building improvements, develop land already owned or to enlarge undersized farms.
4. Farm Ownership loans to less than family-size farmers. These loans are made to owner operators for development of farms and building improvements to the extent that the above type assistance should apply to Charles F. Burill, County Supervisor, located in Agricultural Center Building, Bay St. Louis.
5. Farm Housing Loans. Any farmer interested in the above type assistance should apply to Charles F. Burill, County Supervisor, located in Agricultural Center Building, Bay St. Louis.
6. Soil and Water Conservation loans. These loans are made to farmers to make needed land use adjustments, such as soil conservation practices, irrigation, forestation, drainage, domestic water supply, establishment of permanent pastures and for other needed land use adjustments.
7. Under certain conditions, loans can be made to farmers to refinance existing debts. Such loans will require adequate real estate or chattel security. Loans of this type will not be made without consulting with present creditors and making a determination that other credit sources are not available.
8. One requirement for eligibility is that the farmer have a steady income from the farm, with in-lieu of all FHA loans is the inability of applicants to secure adequate credit from conventional sources.

'Hobbies From Heaven' Is Theme Of Pass Christian's 'Harbor Shop' Group

By VICKI L. HILL

Most of us are familiar with the song which filled of "pen-hills from heaven."

It could very well be paraphrased into "hobbies from heaven" to serve as a theme song for vivacious Mrs. Donna Baird and her nine co-workers in the organization of the "Harbor Shop," a project in Pass Christian, Miss., which offers a market for salable products made by the deft fingers of hobbycrafters.

The shop is unique in that it is operated on a completely non-profit basis, the only requisite being that merchandise be original, of a superior quality and that a mere fifteen percent be donated the founders of the shop for upkeep.

Three years ago when bright Mrs. Baird was helping to complete a successful church bazaar, a visitor was heard to remark that it was regrettable that such lovely articles could not be available every day.

Mrs. Baird seized upon this wistful remonstrance as a promising opportunity to assist her fellow-man as well as to establish a steady supply of hand-made goods to the eager townspeople.

With her typical enthusiasm the former buyer, columnist, radio commentator, gathered together nine of the ladies in the bazaar project and told them of her plan.

Absorbing some of her infectious eagerness the ladies consented at once to co-operate in calling a meeting in the local City Hall to formulate plans.

Sixty-five interested townspeople attended and each was given five mimeographed cards to mail to persons whom they might be acquainted with who possessed a flair for making hand-made objects.

The response to this solicitation was ardent and a surprising number of hobbyists sent furniture, glassware and silver, in their qualifications.

A contest was then held to establish a suitable name for the shop and a huge home-made chocolate cake was offered as a reward.

Coast newspapers and magazines co-operated with the philanthropic group of women in offering free advertising.

A central location was an immediate problem but a kindly merchant proffered the use of an unused shop on the main street of Pass Christian, free of rental charges for a period of three months.

Each of the ten women was requested to donate the sum of $3.00 making the total of a meager $30.00 to begin operations with.

"Most of the money went for cleaning the shop," mused Mrs. Baird, "but furnishings were a minor consideration since part of the building was used for the storage of numerous antiques, possessions of the owner, who graciously offered them to us to be utilized in decor."

Fish-net draperies were hung at the sunny windows and the local florist supplied fresh greens daily.

Excitement ran high as boxes after box of material poured in and was unpacked and placed neatly around the room. The Harbor Shop was open finally for business.

So successful was the project that in two years the shop had outgrown its original quarters and is now carrying on its mission across the street from the original location, in a two-story white frame building of typical old Southern architecture.

"We were delighted to acquire a kitchen in our new abode," smiled Mrs. Baird, "We label it the galley." It is a galley in the true sense. The walls are lined with shelves piled high with luscious-looking preserves, sauces and pickled goods, all home-canned.

In the galley one may help himself to a hot beverage (or a cold one) complete with home-made brownies, while he contemplates a purchase or looks out on the back porch which is filled with a fascinating display of crafts.

A small tea-pot in the center of the neatly appointed kitchen table reminds one to, "Drop a nickel in the pot to keep the beverage coming hot."

A room labeled the English Room is devoted to period furniture, glassware and silver, offered for sale by those who have changed their mode of living. On the walls of this room hang originals done in oils by Herman de Vries, an Eastern painter.

Several drawers in a miniature chest contain hand-made jewelry. This jewelry, fashioned by a young woman in a nearby community, is delicate and original. Paper weights created by an eleven-year old Scout adorn a table near the main entrance.

Along the walls of the main room are shelves lined with innumerable articles, some exotic, some essential and some purely trivia, but all expressing the superior quality that the shop encourages and reflects.

Conspicuously absent are the gaudy souvenirs which bear a city's identification. The whole atmosphere of the Harbor Shop is one of culture combined with a feeling of subdued earthiness.

When an article is brought to the Harbor Shop on consignment it is accepted with the understanding that if it remains on the shelves longer than thirty days it must be removed by the owner.

"It rarely ever seems necessary to compel one to take an object home in defeat," stated Mrs. Baird softly, "but when it is we talk to the hobbyist and encourage him or her to refine it, to perfect it, or even by some new trend. Invariably the contributor returns, sometimes with a new idea put into effect, and is jubilant when it moves off the shelves at once."

A visitor once asked why the merchandise was not catalogued and mailed to customers in other states, but it was pointed out that ideas change so rapidly that that method would be impractical.

Listed among the regular contributors to this unusual business are a nine-year old boy who pedaled seven miles across the Bay of St. Louis to bring his air-plane models for sale, and a ninety-year-old lady who is described as having her "second sight," who makes pot-holders by hand with effective designs that resemble tile.

Attractive ceramics are cast by the local chief operator of the telephone exchange, and a veteran comes from near-by Gulfport to bring his beautiful "tooled leather belts, hand-bags and art-goods. A retired Navy doctor makes bird feeders from sturdy drift wood.

Mrs. Baird likes to tell the story of the woman who called in the days of the Harbor Shop early inception and said that she would like to make baby dresses but that she did not have the money to buy suitable material. It was suggested that she go to the local bakery and purchase the sacks that flour is delivered in and make tea towels. This she did quite successfully and consequently enough money to buy fine lawn for baby wear.

Competition in the petty sense of the word is unheard of amongst the hobbyist. Originality and a general feeling of good fellowship prevails. There are six lines of ceramics and as many of jewelry, yet no two conflict.

An interesting addition to the shop is the "barter board," which for a small fee will carry one's advertisement for article too massive to be moved to the shop, such as a complete antique mahogany bedroom set, or a rosewood piano. In this manner, too, one can advertise an apartment for rent.

One card on the barter board graciously invite a visit to a private garden, free of charge, which proves that Southern hospitality is an established custom.

On the same board is a sign generously offering "Special Service." This service promises repairs to a delapidated doll, the sale of stuffed crabs or perhaps a table or picket fence made to order.

At the beginning of last February a tally was taken to determine the year's income and the founders were delighted as well as amazed to find that they had a gross income of $1,580 in sales.

From this the hobbycrafters realized some $9,000 while the remainder went for upkeep with a reserve of approximately $200.00 put aside against a slack season.

To find the Harbor Shop, which is located in Pass Christian (pronounced Christy-Ain, and named for Christian Laddier, an early French settler) one leaves Highway 90 at a designated spot and takes the Scenic Drive which rims the languid and historical community. On duty will be two gracious hostesses, who volunteer their services in aiding one select purchases. There are twenty-two alternates who serve in pairs both morning and afternoon.

Mrs. Baird and her group of unselfish assistants not only have established a progressive business but more important still, they have enabled some individuals to take a new interest in life and have encouraged others in developing hidden and sometimes unknown talents.

The group could very well use the Golden Rule as their motto, hung neatly beneath the sign, "Harbor Shop," the shop which truly harbors good-will, friendliness and success.

Bay St. Louis' flying Tigers jaunt to Petal tonight for a DeSoto conference encounter, sporting a 4-2 record and hiding a 19-7 defeat by Poplarville last week end.

The game is one of six slated Friday night for eight class A-A, B-BB coast schools, with only St. Stanislaus and d'Iberville with open dates. Game times are 8 p.m.

Mississippi's Gulf Coast conference will have two league contests that may prove the deciding factors in this year's scramble.

Notre Dame's Rebels, winners twice since the loop was organized in 1954, will entertain the Long Beach Bears.

Sporting a 2-0 conference record, Notre Dame will have Mickey Marvar quarterbacking, Oseola Ryne fullbacking and Don Alley and Paul Leary at the halfback slots. The Bears, who dropped a playoff game last year to Notre Dame, will rely greatly on their scoring duo of Jerry Daniels and George Dewey—who have teamed together to contribute 138 points in Long Beach's six battles, one a conference victory.

Meanwhile, at Pass Christian the hometown Pirates will defend their 1-0 league mark against the Our Lady of Victories Eagles from Pascagoula. The Pirates loom as slight favorites but OLV's Bobby Guice will make the contest one to watch carefully.

Artigues, who also booted two extra points and passed to Donald McDonald for another touchdown, the game's outstanding performing credits go to Pascagoula OLV's quarter-back, Bobby Guice, how repeatedly faked of Rockchaw gridders and tossed pin-point passes.

At Poplarville Thursday night Raymond Strong dashed ten yards in the third quarter for Bay High's lone score of the night, when the Tigers were tripped 19-7 by the DeSoto conference Hornets.

Poplarville stung fast for two first period touchdowns and added their third in the final moments of action.

Pete Stegenga threw two touchdowns to lead Pass Christian's Pirates to another Friday night victory, a 26-0 decision over Wiggins. It was the fourth straight win for Tom Farrell's Pirates, who dropped the season opener to Bay St. Louis.

Long Beach's Bears loped ahead of the pack of ten coastal squads with a 26-0 win over the New Orleans academy Cadets. Jerry Daniels chalked up his 13th, 14th and 15th touchdowns in the Bears' fifth victory of six outings.

Saturday night the Notre Dame Rebels continued on their way for a third straight Gulf Coast conference title by whitewashing d'Iberville's Warriors, 27-0 at Biloxi.

FOREST FIRES Mississippi leads the nation in numbers of out-of-control woods fires and intentionally set woods fires. This tell must be reduced. The fires cost millions of dollars each year in timber loss. Besides the timber loss, the fires often burn farm buildings, homes, stacked hay and grass pastures.

Care in woods and fields will help reduce this loss. If you must burn ditch banks, fence corners, etc., make sure you take precautions: Burn on still days, late in the evening when the moisture content of the air is high. Have plenty of men on hand to keep the fire under control.

SHOWER HONORS MRS. RUSSO

Pink radiance roses decorated the spacious living room of the Sam Whitfield home on North Beach when Mesdames Norman Renshaw, J. J. O'Neal, B. L. Ramsay and Mrs. Whitfield entertained for Mrs. Walter Russo at a surprise shower.

Mrs. Russo was presented a gift-corsage of miniature toys tied with green and yellow ribbons. An attractively ornamented hassinet held the lovely gifts she received.

The dining room table was covered with an imported linen and lace cloth and held a long, low arrangement of harvest fruits, centered with a pumpkin, Indian corn and ornamental squash. Greenery surrounded the arrangement and tall green tapers in silver candlesticks were placed on either side. A similar arrangement was placed on the buffet and it was flanked by five branched candelabra holding lighted green tapers.

Mrs. Renshaw served tea and coffee from a silver service along with small French pastries.

About thirty five of the honoree's close friends were present.

AMERICAN LEGION TO GIVE EDUCATION ASSISTANCE

Educational assistance to children of deceased or disabled veterans of World War I, World War II and the Korean Conflict is offered by the local American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mississippi is one of forty two states offering this aid to orphans of veterans who are in their senior year of an accredited high school and in need of financial assistance to continue their education.

For many years the American Legion has been vitally interested in education. Since the veterans organization in the world, it has a special interest in the education of children of veterans, particularly children of deceased or disabled veterans.

Students interested in furthering their education should apply to the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 Chairman of Education and Scholarships, Mrs. Nellie Nelson or Mrs. G. C. Romanoff, President of the local Unit.

Refreshments of punch, pink and blue frosted petit fours and mints were served to the fifteen guests from the dining table which was covered with a lace cloth. Greenery surrounded the punch bowl which centered the table.

Mississippi leads the nation in the number of Tree Farms.

MSC TO HAVE 24 PAGE EDITION FOR HOMECOMING
A 24-page special Homecoming edition of the Alumni News is now being mailed to over 5,000 graduates and former students of Mississippi Southern College.

Annette Tisdale, Hattiesburg sophomore, winner of the Miss Mississippi title for 1956, and Carolyn Cochran Smallwood, Miss Mississippi of 1955, share the cover spotlight.

Articles contained in the Homecoming edition include an extensive picture coverage of the new R. C. Cook College Union; a message from President William D. McCain, and an article on Annette Tisdale.

A report on progress both in physical facilities and faculty-wise is given by Dr. R. A. Mclemore, dean of the college.

Although the mailing is directed to alumni association members, Alumni Secretary Powell G. Ogletree declared that "any interested person" could obtain a copy by contacting his office at Southern.

Homecoming at Southern, scheduled Nov. 3, will feature reunions by the classes of 1916, '26, '36, and '46; a gridiron tilt with Abilene Christian and the formal dedication of the R. C. Cook College Union. Ogletree said a novel feature this year would be the formation of an alumni band, composed of "old grads."

The wood-using industries operate the American Tree Farm System.

There are 16 wood-preserving plants in Mississippi.

Forest industry research is finding more uses for sawmill and logging leftovers.

MRS. GERALD FARVE HONORED WITH PINK AND BLUE SHOWER

Mrs. Harold Krankey, Mrs. Fred Curet and Mrs. Gay Negrette entertained at the Youth Center Wednesday evening, October 17 at a pink and blue shower honoring Mrs. Gerald Farve.

Autumn flowers were used to decorate the main room of the center. The honoree was presented upon her arrival a corsage of pink and white carnations topped with a tiny rattle in the form of an angel.

The many useful and lovely gifts were placed in a bassinet and were opened and displayed to the guests.

The hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Wendall Miller and Mrs. Harold Randolph, Long Beach, served a party plate with food drinks.

Thirty five close friends of the honoree were present.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

A NEW 100-RECORD JUKE BOX is just one of the many features the Bay St. Louis Youth Center offers teen-agers in the Bay St. Louis Area. Miss Louise Woodward, a summer resident of Bay St. Louis, is shown about to make a selection on the modern music maker. The Youth Center's annual drive began last week and will last until its goal of $1500 is reached.
